Andrea is a project manager in Plesner's Projects & Innovation team and part of Plesner's Construction, Real Estate and Energy and Infrastructure teams working with both transactions and disputes. She is focused on driving innovation and enhancing the client experience.

PRACTICE AREAS

Energy and Infrastructure
Construction
Real Estate

With a background within communication, innovation, and IT, Andrea bridges the gap between lawyers, legal technology, data, and design. She integrates creative problem solving to address legal and business challenges. Her background gives her a holistic approach to solving complex legal problems by focusing on change management and the implementation of new perspectives and practices, such as design thinking.

Andrea has a Master of Science in Digital Design and Interactive Technologies and a Bachelor of Science in Communication and Digital Media from the IT University of Copenhagen and Aalborg University. She is also a certified PRINCE2 project manager.

Andrea finds great value in working in interdisciplinary teams, both within the organisation and with external stakeholders, and believes that it fosters innovation and creative solutions by bringing together diverse perspectives and ideas.
